Mr. Thomas H. White Chief, Information Services Staff Directorate of Administration Central Intelligence Agency

Dear Tom:

For some time now, I have been conscious of the need for a clearer and more explicit statement of the procedures for obtaining CIA clearance on materials selected for possible publication in the Foreign Relations of the United States series.

As you know, a decision was recently made in this Department allocating to CDC the responsibility for coordination with other agencies of the government on clearance of materials for the series. I am therefore now able to provide the following statement of procedures.

First, with respect to the material selected for the volumes covering the period 1950 - 1954 which had to be re-reviewed (see attached list):

- (a) The Classification Review Division (CRD) of your office will review again for declassification those portions of the volumes which had been sent initially to CIA by the Department's Historical Office for declassification review;
  - CDC's Office of Systematic Review (CDC/SR) will bring to CRD's attention any documents discovered in the course of the CDC/SR declassification review which CDC/SR concludes should have been sent to CIA for its initial review, but in fact were not. CDC/SR will submit all materials containing information of concern to your Agency.
- SAME AS given volume on the condition that any document or portions of documents which, by CRD's determination, must be withheld to protect national portions of documents which are mination, must be withheld to protect national security, will not be included in the volume. We would reserve the right to discuss further with you any items withheld which we have reasons to believe can be released.

Concerning the material selected for the 1955 - 1957 and subsequent volumes, if the material has already been submitted to you we will follow procedures similar to those outlined above, i.e., CDC/SR will submit to you any additional materials containing information of concern to your Agency. If the material has not yet been submitted, CDC/SR will make the initial selection of material and will make certain that everything of concern to your Agency is ONLY WHAT IS CONSIDERED submitted in the first instance. Again we would honor any LARRY ASSURES ME THAT conditional clearances subject to further discussion on WE WILL GIVE US EVERY. materials we believe can be released.

SENT TO STATE

Mr. Clayton E. McManaway Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Classification and Declassification Department of State Washington, D.C. 20520

Dear Clay:

I believe it would be appropriate at this time to record the informal procedure our organizations have been following to date to review and clear the several volumes of the Foreign Relations of the United States series which are currently being re-examined prior to their publication. A list of these volumes is attached. We understand the procedures to be as follows:

- (a) Our Classification Review Division (CRD) will review again for declassification those portions of the volumes which had been sent initially to this Agency by the Department's Historical Office for declassification review.
- Your Systematic Review Section (SRS) will bring to CRD's No SIGNIFICANT attention any documents discovered in the course of the SRS declassification review which had not been given to this Agency oK for its initial review. CRD will review these documents and advise SRS directly of its decision.
  - (c) CRD will then advise the Office of the Historian, with an information copy to SRS, of its clearance of a given volume.

No CHANGE.

CRD will note that such clearance is based on the condition that any documents or portions of documents which, by CRD's determination, must be withheld to protect national security, will not be included in the volume, and further that the clearance is contingent upon written assurance by the Department of State that the material remaining in the volume which has not been sent to this Agency for review contains no information of concern to this Agency. We are trusting in SRS and its review, of course, for such assurances.

PROPOS

As you know, it has been the practice of the Historian's Office to date to send this Agency for pre-publication review only those documents which HO has determined to be of interest to us. As we have learned, their judgment in this regard has not been without fault. Therefore, as new volumes of the series are sent to us for review hereafter, we request that copies of all documents proposed for publication in the volume be forwarded for our review, determination of interest, and consequent clearance or denial.

Sincerely,

Chief, Classification Review Division

SUBJECT:

Department of State Manuscripts Concerning Korea and China, Vol. VII, 1951 (Foreign Relations of the United States (FRUS) Series)

1. Attached are manuscripts destined for publication as Volume VII of the series "Foreign Relations of the United States." We have reviewed these documents with regard to CIA equities and have placed them in three categories; i.e., no objection to declassification, retain classification, or sanitize before publication. We would appreciate your expeditious review in order that we may return this material to the Department of State, as soon as possible.

2. Following is a description of the material attached:

Attachment A: Two red jackets; one entitled "1951 VII Korea and China (1) 1 DEN - 500 DEN; 1 JUN - 19 JUN, and the other entitled 1951 VII Korea and China (2) 99 JUN - 500 JUN; 1 JUL - 206 JUL. We have no objection to declassification of all the materials in these jackets, with the exception of 153-160 JUL, Special Intelligence Estimate. (Total pages: 1,191)

Attachment B - Thirty-eight documents reviewed by the DDO in late 1976. You will note that we do not agree with 21 of the decisions reached by the DDO. Our reasons are cited on individual Review Worksheets attached to the appropriate documents. (Total pages: 155)

Attachment C - Twenty-six documents reviewed by various National Intelligence Officers in September 1976. Eleven of the documents duplicate those reviewed by the DDO. Both components in general agreed on the disposition of ten of the documents. We disagreed with the opinions of the NIO officers on two documents, 153-160 JUL and 209-231 JUL. (Total pages: 145)

Washington, D.C. 20520

Dear Larry:

Thank you for sending us pages 346-47 LEM of Foreign Relations of the United States, Volume XI, 1952-54, Africa and South Asia. Our records were not completely clear as to the determination which we had made on release of 346 LEM.

We have reviewed these pages and make no objection to the publication of 346 LEM and the continuation of Memorandum No. 11 on page 347 LEM. We also note that the deletions marked on the lower half of 347 LEM are in accordance with our discussion of last September.

Thank you again for your help.

Mr. Clayton McManaway Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Classification/Declassification Center Room 2811, New State Washington, D.C. 20520

Dear Mr. McManaway:

We recently completed our review of the Joint Army Navy Intelligence Studies (JANIS) and are forwarding herewith a printout from our ADP system which lists the chapters in our holdings and indicates the review action we have taken.

You may use this printout as authority to declassify any chapters listed that may be in your possession. We believe our holdings are complete, but, if you should find any chapters not on our list, we will be happy to review them as well and add the results to our data base.

MEMORANDUM

TO: A/CDC - Clayton E. McManaway

FROM: NEA - Feter Constable

SUBJ: Iran and Freedom of Information

REF: Your Memorandum of Feb. 3, 1981

We agree with your memorandum that with the release of the hostages we should take a fresh look at Iran FOI material. While we can obviously be more liberal than our previously very restrictive guidelines, there remain areas of great sensitivity. We hope that your staff can continue to work closely with NEA/IRN in those sensitive areas.

We suggest that recently retired FSO-1 Charles W. Naas be assigned prime responsibility for reviewing all Iran materials. Mr. Naas was deeply involved in Iranian atfairs as Country Director and DCM from summer 1974 to summer 1979.

In our view there are four general guidelines that apply to all Iran materials:

- --No release of documents that would reveal intelligence sources, methods, plans or operations;
- --No release of material that would place in personal jeopardy any American or any friendly Iranian or other national;
- -- A willingness to release documents that illustrate the broad outlines of US policy towards Iran at the particular time;
- --No release of documents that would seriously complicate efforts to create a new relationship with Iran in the future. We would anticipate that in this crucial area, we would exempt from release material which would compromise the conduct of national defense or foreign policy, as spelled out in FOI regulations.

In addition, we would like to suggest the following considerations for the specific periods under review:

1951-1955 Documents for FRUS and FOI - A simplified and distorted version of the events of this period has become political dogma in Iran and elsewhere. The release of the full diplomatic record would help to provide a better balance in accounts of our role. For that balance, however, it will be assential to cover our dealings with the British. To exclude the story of US-British cooperation on Iran will not give a true picture of US decisions. We suggest that the Department consult with the FCO to work out practical arrangements for possible release of documents from this record.

1956-February 1979 - Within the general guidelines, we believe we could release much economic, consular and routine political reporting. There would seem to be very few documents of this sort from this period that could not be released in connection with litigation, but that, as on other subjects, would be decided within the guidelines noted above.

February 1979-November 1979 - Many of the documents held in Embassy Tehran files prior to November 4, 1979, can be considered compromised. Through checking this carefully and keeping in mind the general guidelines, many of these documents could be released.

November 1979-January 1981 - Much, but by no means all, of the diplomatic record for this period has been discussed. We recommend release of documents that conform to the general guidelines and that might help to clarify public understanding of the diplomatic activity to free the hostages.
